The Kennihan family was singled out for their dedication to their employees' welfare and careers, along with their service to their customers and the community.

Bill Kennihan
and
"Tucker"

In 1969, with a loan from his grandmother, Bill Kennihan established a company focused on customer care. Bill believed that employee training was the key to ensuring great service and quality work.

Two generations and 48 years later, Bill's philosophy still holds true. With its expertly trained, professional technicians and service employees, family-owned-and-operated Kennihan Plumbing, Heating and Air Conditioning has grown to become a leading heating and cooling company in Butler County and northern Allegheny County. Specializing in furnace and air conditioning repair and replacement, Kennihan's also delivers energy improvements, such as home insulation and renewable energy solutions. They do it all - no job is too big or too small!

Kennihan's will fix your uncomfortable home while saving you money in energy costs. Each employee understands that your home must be made safe, healthy, and comfortable and that you must achieve the most savings possible.

No matter if your issue is plumbing, heating & cooling, insulation or electrical, Kennihan's is your one-stop service company!
